We Come to Your Feast   (Michael Joncas)

1. We place upon your table a gleaming cloth of white: The weaving of our stories,
The fabric of our lives; the dreams of those before us, the ancient hopeful cries,
The promise of our future; our needing and our nurture lie here before eyes.
2. We place upon your table a humble loaf of bread: The gift of field and hillside,
The grain by which we're fed; we come to taste the presence of him on whom we feed,
To strengthen and connect us, to challenge and correct us, to love in word and deed.
3. We place upon your table a simple cup of wine: The fruit of human labour,
The gift of sun and vine; we come to taste the presence of him we claim as Lord,
His dying and his living, His leading and his giving, His love in cup outpoured.

Refrain:

We come to your feast, We come to your feast: The young and the old,
The frightened, the bold, the greatest and the least. We come to your feast,
We come to your feast with the fruit of our lands and the work of our hands
We come to your feast.

A Healthy Spiritual Life:

- ❖ Increases participation in life generally.
- ❖ Resists anything that would truncate our humanity, mutilate our sensitivities or stifle our imagination.
- ❖ Confronts us with reality....with what is real and true.
- ❖ Does not super-impose an 'ideal' situation.
- ❖ Invites a deeper connection with ourselves, the world and with others.
- ❖ Renders us more 'other centred'.
- ❖ Continues to create openness to the transcendent possibilities of existence.
- ❖ Does not promise pure consolation, but is able to embrace the mystery of suffering.
- ❖ Is intellectually coherent and accountable.
- ❖ Is open to engagement with, and interpretation by, a religious tradition.
- ❖ Is ethical and works for justice.
- ❖ Holds paradox creatively.

Gospel Reflection for Trinity Sunday

Sr Veronica Lawson RSM

Nothing in John's gospel should be read in isolation from the whole. Our passage forms part of Jesus' dialogue with a Pharisee called Nicodemus who recognizes that Jesus is "of God". Jesus leads Nicodemus from a basic and fairly literal understanding to new understandings about what it means to be in relationship with God. The need to be "born of the Spirit" is part of the conversation that forms the context for the three verses chosen for today's gospel. Trinitarian language pervades John's gospel and is present elsewhere in the Christian scriptures, almost certainly reflecting the incipient belief of the earliest communities in God who is one, as Jewish faith asserts, and at the same time three-in-one. This belief was to develop over the subsequent centuries into the doctrine of the Trinity which is at the very heart of Christian faith.

Perichoresis, a Greek term suggestive of dancing or of figures interweaving, is one of the earliest and probably one of the most striking images used to explain this Trinitarian life of God. The life that is in God is three and yet one in a totally harmonious dance of equals. The wonder is that we are invited to join the dance. Trinity Sunday is the day that we set aside to celebrate who God is in Godself and who God is in relation to the whole of creation. We celebrate the nearness of the Triune God who draws us as participants into the dance of life and love. We hear later in John's gospel that the Spirit of truth guides us "into all the truth". We continue to listen to the Spirit so that we might understand more fully the "things that are to come" and the relatedness we are called to live. The dance of Trinitarian love casts out hatred and enmity and wanton destruction. It calls us to live in harmony with one another and with all of God's creation.
