Family Support Program

Relationship Education

Being in a loving relationship is good for your health and happiness

There are many positive steps you can take towards long-term relationship success:

- Developing a strong connection
- Managing difference in a positive way
- Working together in partnership
- Understanding each other's values and goals
- Having a positive perspective

There is certainly not a 'right' way to be married, but it is important to establish positive patterns early in the relationship.

The pre-marriage education program provides an opportunity for engaged couples to strengthen communication skills and explore together, the essential ingredients for creating and maintaining a lasting and satisfying marriage.

The program has been informed by Dr John Gottman's extensive research into what makes marriage work.

The day incorporates his findings in a fun and interactive way, through private couple discussion time and group learning.

2022 group program dates: Time: 9.30am – 4.00pm

Cost: $220 per couple / $110

Sunday March 20th concession (lunch included)

Sunday May 15th Venue: Family Relationship Centre

34 Peel Street North, Ballarat

Alternatively, if a group program doesn't suit you, you might consider a pre marriage program just for yourself and your partner!

PREPARE TM is based on an evidence-based questionnaire, tailored to your current living arrangements (together or apart) and family make-up (no-children, with children from this or a previous relationship).

Our facilitator works with couples over 3-4 sessions, building on relationship strengths and identifying possible areas for growth.

Time: By appointment

Cost: $220 per couple or $110 with concession
